"Deserves recognition from those who desire to see legitimate Organ music keep its place."—Musical Standard.

Extract from the Editor's Preface.

"It will be observed that both Foreign and English Composers, are contributors, and, generally speaking, this plan will be adopted in future numbers. Art is universal—the language of music is identical throughout the civilised world. Through the medium of this work, we may discover and enjoy the various styles of the leading Organists and Composers of the age in which we live: from under one cover we may choose new Voluntaries by experienced performers for use in Divine Service; or Pieces for performance on small Chamber, or large Concert Organs. No similar work has ever, to my knowledge, been previously published. I believe, therefore, I was correct in stating in my first announcement, that the publication would supply a want long felt by Organists in general, professional and amateur.' At the same time it must be generally allowed that the Original Organ Compositions of many able modern English musicians published from time to time, have contributed considerably towards the increased and increasing taste for this important and useful branch of the art."

All Subscriptions to be paid Half-yearly in advance to the Publishers, Novello, Ewer and Co., who have the sole management of the sale and distribution of copies, &c. Communications respecting Compositions to be addressed to the Editor, Springfield Villa, Leeds.
